

THE THEATRE

Two doors provide entry to the Theatre at either end of Row H. Front Stalls seating starts to gradually incline from Row B to Row H, then again in the second bank of Stalls seating from Row J right to the back of the Stalls. Patrons will be at eye level with the Stage at around Row D. The Balconies are located to the side and above the stalls and gradually incline from Row B onwards.

Row A to the Front of Stage

There is an average distance of 1450mm between seats in Row A and the stage edge.

Distance between Rows

There is an average distance of 550mm between a row and the row in front when seats are unoccupied.

Seats can be removed from Row H of the Theatre to accommodate wheelchairs of 1000mm in width. H3 and H24 (on either end of Row H) are dedicated empty wheelchair bays that may be able to accommodate wheelchairs of a larger size.

STAIRS

There are four main and two secondary stairways in our Theatre that patrons may have to traverse to locate their seat, two on either edge of the Stalls, one in each Balcony, and one in each end of the Sound Lock. All of our stairways are equipped with industry standard handrails.

STALLS

ROWS A-G: Patrons with seats in these rows will have to descend between 1-7 stairs.

H ROW: H Row is level with the entryway and does not require patrons to traverse stairs. Patrons with mobility issues are encouraged to book seats in this row via the Box Office.

ROWS J-T: Patrons with seats in these rows will have to ascend between 3-21 stairs.

BALCONY 1: Based on entry point, patrons with seats in Balcony 1 will need to ascend between 24-45 stairs.

BALCONY 2: Based on entry point, patrons with seats in Balcony 2 will need to ascend between 36-51 stairs.

THE STUDIO

The Studio is a professional black box performance space with a 130-seat retractable seating bank. Seating for performances in The Studio is general admission unassigned seating. General Admission means your purchased ticket guarantees you a seat which you will choose from the seating bank upon arrival. The Studio is a versatile performance space that allows for different stage and seating configurations to provide a more intimate theatre setting. Patrons with mobility needs should contact the Box Office to discuss their access requirements.
